Tony,

In
http://www.tonymarston.net/php-mysql/menuguide/appendixl.htm l there is an error in line 71/72.

In addition the search will be limited to entries which belong to the current database and table.
should be in line 71

and the end tag should be in line 72.

As in line 60/61.

See
http://www.htmlhelp.com/cgi-bin/validate.cgi?url=http%3A%2F%

PS. Don't bother to correct the warnings because they are generated by XHTML syntax. That syntax is obviously valid in XHTML and it is valid in HTML5

Fixed. uniface/tip06.html was tricky to fix as the w3c validator claims that a tag inside a <pre></pre> is invalid, although HTML Tidy does not. I changed it to a and the error went away.

Tony,

That's why I reported http://www.tonymarston.net/uniface/tip06.html last.

Thanks for fixing them all.

I will post only two more reports about "serious" errors in the http://www.tonymarston.net domain that can be caught with DTD-based html validators.

I've changed the HTML which is generated by sendmail.php, but the others are not HTML documents, they are PHP source files.

Tony,

Even though they are php files, the code of each php file is shown inside an html file.
I don't know how these pages are generated, but the html file is almost correct.

The validtor complains about the lack of:

a) doctype
b) encoding

I think a line like
<!DOCTYPE HTML PUBLIC "-//W3C//DTD HTML 4.01 Transitional//EN"
"http://www.w3.org/TR/html4/loose.dtd"> or better, the XHTML 1.0 doctype (because it produces less errors and warnings when selected in the W3C Markup Validation Service as the doctype for http://www.tonymarston.net/php-mysql/showsource.php?file=std .encryption.class.inc).

and perhaps two lines inside the head element like
  <meta http-equiv="Content-Type" content="text/html; charset=utf-8">
  <meta name="author" lang="EN" content="Tony Marston">

would do it.

Thanks

Done. I've fixed all the errors, but I cannot do anything about the warnings as the show_source() function generates output with an abundance of '' tags.

Tony,

If you change the doctype of these pages
http://www.tonymarston.net/php-mysql/encryption.php http://www.tonymarston.net/php-mysql/showsource.php?file=amo rtise.php http://www.tonymarston.net/php-mysql/showsource.php?file=cal endar.php http://www.tonymarston.net/php-mysql/showsource.php?file=con verter.php http://www.tonymarston.net/php-mysql/showsource.php?file=dat e.class.inc http://www.tonymarston.net/php-mysql/showsource.php?file=enc ryption.php http://www.tonymarston.net/php-mysql/showsource.php?file=std .encryption.class.inc to XHTML 1.0 Transitional the warnings will disappear. That doctype fits better the html style of those pages.

Compare checking http://www.tonymarston.net/php-mysql/showsource.php?file=dat e.class.inc as HTML 4.01 Transitional
http://validator.w3.org/check?uri=http%3A%2F%2Fwww.tonymarst
on.net%2Fphp-mysql%2Fshowsource.php%3Ffile%3Ddate.class.inc&
amp;charset=%28detect+automatically%29&doctype=HTML+4.01
+Transitional&group=0&user-agent=W3C_Validator%2F1.3
546 warnings

versus checking it as XHTML 1.0 Transitional
http://validator.w3.org/check?uri=http%3A%2F%2Fwww.tonymarst
on.net%2Fphp-mysql%2Fshowsource.php%3Ffile%3Ddate.class.inc&
amp;charset=%28detect+automatically%29&doctype=XHTML+1.0
+Transitional&outline=1&group=1&st=1&user-ag ent=W3C_Validator%2F1.3

0 warnings
(two errors related to having a HTML 4.01 doctype and checking it as XHTML 1.0)

Only three changes are necessary:
1) Change the doctype to
<!DOCTYPE html PUBLIC "-//W3C//DTD XHTML 1.0 Transitional//EN"
"http://www.w3.org/TR/xhtml1/DTD/xhtml1-transitional.dtd">

2) Change the html tag to
<html xmlns="http://www.w3.org/1999/xhtml">

3) Close the meta tag
<meta http-equiv="Content-Type" content="text/html; charset=utf-8" />

Thanks.

Fixed. Although the URL http://www.tonymarston.net /sample/person_list.php?csxslt=on reports a warning this is misleading as the option 'csxslt=on' causes an XML document to be sent to the browser, which is then transformed into HTML using an XSL stylesheet. Validating an XML document BEFORE it has been transformed will produce different results if you try AFTER it has been transformed. Just remove the 'csxslt=on' option and you will see the difference.

Sorry for including that one. For a moment I forgot that csxslt means client side xlst.

Thanks again.

Tony,

There is an html error in http://www.tonymarston.net/php-mysql/web-site-vs-web-applica tion.html

See
http://validator.w3.org/nu/?doc=http://www.tonymarston.net/p hp-mysql/web-site-vs-web-application.html

Reference
http://www.w3.org/TR/REC-html40/struct/tables.html#h-11.2.4. 4 (Calculating the width of columns)
http://www.w3.org/TR/REC-html40/struct/tables.html#h-11.2.4. 2 (the col element)

http://www.w3.org/TR/REC-html40/types.html#type-length (length and multilength)

The acceptable syntax has three variants (each with a different meaning):
width=n (e.g. width=50) (lenght - pixels) width=n% (e.g. width=20%) (lenght - a percentage of the available horizontal space) width=i* (e.g. width=30*) (multilength)

Thanks.

PS.
The 10px syntax is valid in CSS, see http://www.w3.org/TR/CSS2/syndata.html#value-def-length

The first two have been fixed, but the last two validate perfecty when done as XHTML with the validator at http://validator.w3.org/. If the new validator cannot handle XHTML then I'm going to ignore any errors that it spits out.

Some of the errors thrown up by the new validator do not show up as errors at by the old validator, so I consider the new validator to be buggy. I have given up correcting errors that don't exist.

For example, http://validator.w3.org/check?uri=http://www.tonymarston.net /php-mysql/data-dictionary.html shows as valid whereas http://validator.w3.org/nu/?doc=http://www.tonymarston.net/p hp-mysql/data-dictionary.html does not. Which is right?

Tony,

The old validator is DTD based, and the new validator is not. In fact, the new validator is designed to find errors that the old one misses.

On the limits of DTD based validation see the HTML 4.01 specs:
http://www.w3.org/TR/html401/sgml/intro.html#h-19.1

That being said, there might be bugs in the new validator (as in any piece of complex software).

I am not a nu validation fan (for example in its treatment of XHTMl served as html), I am only using it as a tool to detect some errors, mainly table errors raised by an inconsistency between the column count established by col and colgroup elements and the contents of some rows. In my experience it works well detecting that errors.

On that specific matter see the HTML 4.01 specs:

Reference
The COLGROUP element
http://www.w3.org/TR/html401/struct/tables.html#h-11.2.4.1

The COL element
http://www.w3.org/TR/html401/struct/tables.html#h-11.2.4.2

Calculating the number of columns in a table
http://www.w3.org/TR/html401/struct/tables.html#h-11.2.4.3

Thanks again.

PS.
Sorry for grouping to many errors in the same post, but don't take that as an indication that they should be corrected immediatly.

How it performs its validation is irrelevant. If a document is deemed to be valid using the old technique, and is rendered in all browsers as expected, then a new technique which throws up errors is definitely suspect.

Pointing to the HTML specs is not useful as, in my mind, they are not "proper" specifications as they are not specific enough - they are open to (mis)interpretation and misunderstandings.

Tony,

In http://www.tonymarston.net/uniface/componenttemplates.html
the following fragment identifiers contain whitespace:

#standard layout
#version 6
#create v6
#use v6
#version 7
#create v7
#use v7

Consider replacing whitespaces with underscores (_) or escaping them with %20.

The resulting links work fine in Firefox but they might create problems with other browsers or with other software (e.g. link checkers).

Thanks in advance.

Tony,

I stumbled upon this page
https://www.creativewhim.com/6-html5-validation-errors-and-h ow-to-fix-them/

it includes a section on how to fix the html code of StumbleUpon Badges to make it validate, specifically the offending part:
<su:badge layout="1"></su:badge>

There is another solution here http://marioiliev.com/en/blog/web-design/38-html-validirane- na-butoni-za-socialnite-mreji the code looks more elegant, but uses jQuery.

Thanks in advance.

When I searched for samples on how to load links to social media sites into my web pages that was the code that I came across, so I inserted it without making any changes. I didn't write the code, so don't ask me what it does.
